

The faculty of CMU deplore the expression of hatred that took place in a campus residence hall on the night of 7 November 2018. Students deserve safety and a sense of belonging. Expressions of racism and sexism have no place at CMU. We condemn all forms of animosity, harassment and oppression.

CMU's professors are committed to making our laboratories, classrooms and offices safe, respectful, and inclusive spaces for learning and living for all students--particularly those who face ongoing oppression. We all have a responsibility to treat each other with sensitivity, tolerance and respect. We stand in solidarity with the campus community in our dedication to making CMU a safe and inclusive campus.
